A collection was taken up amounting to $7.10.

It was moved and seconded to reconsider the motion for the time of the next regular meeting, and the Society adjourned to meet at Mr. Wm. O. Smith's at the regular time in July.

Respectfully submitted,

WM. J. FORBES, Recording Secretary.

The Hawaiian Mission Children's Society has held during the year eleven regular meetings, including the annual and adjourned annual meetings and an extra meeting at the Jubilee celebration of April 11, at Punahou. REPORT OF HOME SECRETARY.

The time has again come for a review of the year's work of the Society. We have a common interest in this good work, and from the encouraging reports which have come to us this year we may feel well rewarded for the aid we have given.

Mr. Burt sends the following report from the boys' boarding school at Hilo:

"The illness of Miss Arms obliged her to resign and she has been succeeded by Miss Severance, Miss Chamberlain and Miss Cora Hitchcock. The latter still remains doing efficient work. Miss Lyman has charge of the primary department, and Mr. Townsend is my associate. The school has been completely graded and there are seventy pupils.

"An industrial hall for manual training has been erected by my class of boy carpenters. The work they have done and the interest manifested is a great encouragement to us all.

"There is, however, one difficulty—that of making both ends meet. How to do for the boys what we wish when we are so limited in funds is a perplexing problem. In this the aid rendered by the H. M. C. S. is duly appreciated by us.

"The Lyman Fund is now completed. A grant of $1,500 from the government for permanent improvement has, with $500 from individuals, enabled us to erect the Industrial Building above mentioned.

"A Band has been organized which promises much for the future. The instruments were purchased by friends of the school in Hilo."

From Miss Carpenter, of East Maui Female Seminary:

"Ninety-three different girls have been in school during the year. For various reasons there have been more changes than in some years.

"Miss Potter, Miss Cameron, and Miss Wyckoff have been here the entire year. Miss Simpson came in December to take Miss Humphrey's place.

"We greatly desire to see some of these girls who have received so freely, and who seem while here to be true Christians, willing to give themselves to the work of Christ."

Mr. F. W. Damon, Superintendent of the Chinese Mission, reports of the Chinese School work:

"About one hundred pupils have been enrolled during the year. The boys' school, in charge of Miss Payson, has continued to prosper.

"An interesting school for younger boys has been opened under the care of a young Chinese lady, Miss Mary Kwai Shin, who has received careful training under the care of Miss Green, of Waialua, afterward under Miss Payson and also at Kawaiahao Seminary.

"The girls' school has over 40 pupils. During Mrs. Simpson's absence in Wailuku, where she went to take charge of the new branch of this mission work, Mrs. F. Damon has had the school, assisted by Miss Kwai Shin and Miss L. Aseu. We hope it may be possible to secure some one to take Mrs. Simpson's place at Wailuku, so she can return to Honolulu. We have not yet seen our way clear to open boarding schools for boys and girls. It is a thing much to be desired. Most grateful are we for the assistance given us by the Society.

Kawaiahao Seminary numbers at present one hundred and fourteen, over one hundred and twenty have been enrolled during the year. Miss Alexander writes: "Four of your six girls are professed followers of our Lord Jesus Christ, in which you will rejoice with us.

Thirty-two of those who are in older classes are church members.

"More progress has been made in the different departments of work and study than in any of the past three years; our pupil teacher, Jennie Bates, has done most acceptable work. We thank you for your aid and sympathy, and through you extend thanks to all friends who have so kindly remembered us."

Respectfully submitted,

HELEN HILLEBRAND.

CORRESPONDING SECRETARY'S REPORT.

With real reluctance and many protests your present Corresponding Secretary took the position to which you called her last year, feeling how difficult would be the task of filling, even temporarily, an office whose duties had long been most ably discharged by her predecessor. But she wishes now to thank you for the trust, and to give her testimony that the privileges connected with the secretaryship of the H. M. C. S. are of no small consideration. In presenting this report she begs your kind forbearance with its failures, and asks that, in the year to come, all will aid in sending items of interest for the next report.

OUR COUSINS ON MISSIONARY FIELDS.

Dr. and Mrs. Pease, returning from a year and a half of rest and work in the United States, en route for Micronesia, arrived in Honolulu July 10, 1886. With them were three lady teachers under appointment of the American Board for the schools on Kusaie. Adopted at once into our Society and meeting with us on several pleasant occasions, at our own regular monthly gathering, and the Woman's Board tea party, and with us in our homes, they became personally endeared to many.

On the day—almost at the hour—of embarkation, it was found that the stern timbers of the Morning Star were affected by dry rot. While the discovery filled every heart with regret and alarm, we counted it a merciful providence that revealed the danger in time for repairs to make the vessel safe. On July 24th we gathered on the Star to hold farewell services before her sailing. Dr. Pease, a very tower of strength; Mrs. Pease, brave and cheery; their bright boys, Ned and Frank; the faithful Hawaiian missionaries, Kaia and wife; the teachers, Misses Hemingway, Crosby and Smith, going forth to untried scenes; and Miss Palmer, frail in health, but resolute of will, these were the missionary company to whom we bade God-speed and said good-bye. Our sister, Miss Cathcart, looking after the departing vessel with tearful eyes, turned her face eastward, while her heart went onward to her beloved Kusaie. We, who saw her trial, then had new proof that those whose hearts are really in the blessed work of taking a knowledge of the Savior to the heathen, suffer more when compelled by failing health to leave their field than when they turn from home and friends to enter on that service.

Surely God heard the children's prayers in many lands for the keeping and the speeding of their fourth Morning Star. In spite of rotting planks and failing steam, of adverse currents and baffling calms, the vessel made a successful trip. After touching at some of the Gilbert and Marshall Islands, at Kusaie and Ponape, she bore the Walkups, the Rands, Miss Hemingway, Miss Smith and Mr. Doane to Ruk. There, in that distant outpost of the Micronesian mission, with the devoted Logans and their assistant, Mr. Worth, they held general meeting, as recommended by the Prudential Committee of the A. B. C. F. M. It was a disappointment in which their friends deeply sympathize that Dr. and Mrs. Pease were deterred by the illness of Miss Crosby from participating in this meeting of interest and value.

We could wish that Mr. and Mrs. Logan's letters and journals might tell their story of loving toil to every heart that prays, "Thy kingdom come." Think of trying to elevate into civilized customs barbarians whose language does not recognize such a word as clean; whose sense of fitness is so low that they would not hesitate to take the clothes from off their teachers' backs, or the food from their mouths, if they could; whose wildness is such that, Mr. Logan writes, they feel what explosive power may be in dynamite. Yet, two years after beginning to learn their letters, forty of these people, in a school examination, read from the Testament, chant the 23rd Psalm, and sing Coronation and other hymns, while a thousand wild barbarian guests look on in pleased surprise. And we, dear cousins, who travel in grand ocean steamers, and cross the continent in palatial cars, let us think of faint but pursuing Mr. Logan, left at Mortlock by the Star, to make his way back to Ruk in the little schooner Kapiolani, a craft so small that one cannot stand upright in her cabin, and having no place for one to lie down in comfort—a voyage of "dire discomfort," as the anxious, self-forgetful wife is constrained to say. Shall we not rejoice that we may show our sympathy by aiding in his work? He writes of the careful disbursement of our funds, sent for the support of the six couples, the widow and one unmarried woman, who are native helpers; tells how the lumber sent makes floors for dwellings and school house, and gives us hearty thanks for "substantial help." Is it not a pity that we send them less this year than last?

Other important work of the Star was to take Mr. Walkup with Miss Hemingway through the Gilbert group to gather pupils for the girls' school to be under Miss H.'s charge at Kusaie; also, Dr. Pease and Miss Smith through the Marshall group for pupils for Miss Smith's school.

The charming journals of Mrs. Pease and Miss

Crosby, which have had wide circulation among the cousins in Hawaii nei, have so vividly sketched their homes in that gem of the Pacific, and so detailed their daily life that we almost fancy we ourselves have been there and seen the surf-beaten reef, the towering mountains, verdure-clad with palm and banyan, bread-fruit and orange trees; have met the kindly groups of natives, and with our dear toilers have felt that the Lord's work is going forward, and that the King of Glory is being glorified in these isles of the sea.

Dr. Pease's letter, which has a clarion ring of courage and encouragement, must be appended together with Mrs. Pease's friendly note to us all.

The Morning Star returned to Honolulu April 4th, bringing Miss Hemmingway, whose health had sadly failed in one brief year. There has already arrived among us Dr. Lucy Ingersoll for Miss Fletcher's help at Ponape; and, O! joy, a missionary and his wife are soon expected to reinforce the weary Logans.

From Japan Cousin T. W. Gulick writes that the Japanese had become so skillful in dentistry that not a foreign dentist was now in practice. He had, therefore, taken position as teacher in a Naval Engineering College at Yokosuka. Here, although the Bible was a proscribed book to the students, he found opportunities to preach Christ to one hundred and twenty interesting young cadets, as also to evening classes of naval doctors.

We have heard that Miss Searle, one of our Boston cousins, is now a missionary in Japan. We would be glad to learn about her work, and hope she will report.

The anticipated visit of Miss Gulick to her native shores became a pleasant reality, and we shall long remember the earnest zeal with which she improved occasions to work among Japanese and Hawaiians during her few months' sojourn here.

From the American Bible Society's Report for 1886 we find that Dr. S. H. Gulick still prosecutes his work as their agent in China with great vigor. Brief extracts of letters from thirty-five missionaries and col-porteurs are given by Dr. Gulick in his survey of the field, wherein 214,598 volumes had been distributed the preceding year.

A call was sent to Rev. Oramel Gulick in Japan to the native church at Hilo. His acquaintance with Hawaiians and fluency in their language would have made him a most valuable worker at that important post. He felt, however, that Japan needed him more.

Rev. George Pierson, one of the early Micronesian missionaries, now settled as a home missionary in Texas, writes from Henrietta: "This state has been a country for hard, wild characters, but a better spirit is prevailing. We have been here two years and a half, and there has been a great change for the better during this time. Our Master has an interest in this State, and we believe He will yet gain control of it. For this end we came here and labor in hope."

Miss Van Duzee, still faithfully laboring in Persia, sends kindly greetings from Salmas. "The work," she says, "is seed-sowing and not harvest time. The people, while seeming to know a good deal, understand very little and do still less. Their Bibles are in their churches, seldom in their homes, and in the ancient language not commonly understood. The priests oppose the efforts for enlightenment, but light is sure to come at last."

GENERAL CORRESPONDENCE.

Hon. William Hyde, of Ware, speaks in a very pleasant letter of his birth, having occurred in the same month of 1806 that saw the prayer meeting begun under the haystack at Williamstown. It seemed to him he had been born into the missionary cause. His memory went back to school-boy days when the young pioneer, Hiram Bingham, not then, as yet, embarked, came with Thomas Hopu to address the school and show them heathen idols. Mr. Hyde and Miss Sage, for eight years, have continued their annual donation of fifty dollars each, one for the support of a pupil at Kawaiahao Seminary and the other for a pupil at Makawao.

Rev. J. F. Whitney, writing from their new home at St. Johnsbury East, Vt., gives assurance that the hearts of himself and wife are still with their people on Ebon, by sending ten dollars to our Society for use in the Micronesian work. Writing in August, he says: "The weather has been much like Honolulu, only we have no mosquitoes." Their little Mary, four last June, will be a candidate for membership at some future time.

From Weatogue, near Hartford, the beautiful country-seat of Mrs. E. Boyd Dodge, came quick response to the appeal of the pledge card. She wished her husband's name to be with hers in the roll of life members. Mr. Dodge, formerly connected with Beyrout College as one of its professors, still aids that work most nobly with his purse, while absent in person; and Mrs. Dodge has much to do in carrying forward an arduous enterprise among the "poor whites" of the south.

Our valiant hero in education, Gen. S. C. Armstrong, writes a full letter in his convalescence from the longest illness of his life, in which he says, "Many pleasant visions of the islands have come back, not only while on my bed, but more while sitting on my front piazza, watching the exquisite view from sea and sky and shore, and breathing soft and delicious breezes from across Hampton Roads." Then, after speaking of our rare island scenery and the ennobling effect its beauty and grandeur would have upon us if we would let it, he refers most tenderly to memories of his father, the anniversary of whose death in 1860, he with other members of his father's family, had been keeping. Let us thoughtfully heed these, his earnest words:

"The lesson that the children of Hawaiian missionaries have to learn from their parents is most important. In retrospect their lives are exalted and glorified; we see more clearly the real motives that inspired them, and hence their influence should be stronger upon their children than ever it was before. Their best monument, the best loyalty to them, and what they would rather have from us in their high and holy seats is loyalty to the cause for which they lived and in which they died. Self-centered and selfish descendants of such people, no matter what show outwardly of refinement they may make, are unworthy of them. You must give a good account of your wealth, for one day you will be asked of about it. What you give you save, what you spend on yourself you lose. God bless my aina hanau, and inspire the Cousin's Society to all worthy work."

A charming memorial of Rev. Richard Armstrong has recently been issued by the press of the Hampton Normal Institute.

Col. C. S. Stewart tells us that now being on the retired list, having served over forty years, it will not be in his power to do as much as he would desire for our Society, but assures us of his best wishes, and adds another liberal donation to what he has already so freely given. He removes from the west to the east, and will settle at Cooperstown. But he goes alone, for in November last, there came to him the sorrowful affliction of the death of his wife. We have no particulars, but they are not needed to stir our sympathies. We pray the God of all comfort to comfort the stricken heart.

Prof. F. P. Brewer sends the name of another member of his family to be borne on our list, also the photograph of their daughter Mary for the album. "Hawaiian cousins," he says, "may all count on a welcome if they will visit us at Grinnell." Does cousin Brewer realize how large the cousinhood is?

Carrie Snow, writing Jan. 1, 1887, says of the failing, invalid mother: "She is bearing with sweet patience the long inactivity and weariness. Please give her and my kind remembrance to the cousins. We are very grateful for the many kindnesses shown Fred."

Thanking us for last year's Report, Oliver Emerson writes: "There is something which these records have the power of touching in me. They do me good. They feed the old, fond sympathies. I read the reports for every bit of news, and look over the roll of names and the treasurer's report to see if there is any progress towards larger things." We trust his eye will gladden when he sees in this year's appropriations the thousand dollar advance 'towards larger things.' "

When our Society was organized, thirty-five years ago, in the little adobe school house, Mrs. Edward Beckwith, then Carrie Armstrong, was one of its first officers. From that time, she assures us, it has always been very dear to her heart. She marvels at its growth in numbers and its efficiency, and desires that even the little ones should catch its spirit and grow up with an increasing love for the work, ready to take the place of those now devoting their energies to it.

These brief gleanings from the letters of our absent cousins reveal the love they bear our band, and the kind responses from many quarters to the letters sent out with pledge cards at the beginning of the year, show how sincere is their desire to share in the work we do. No preceding year has shown a deeper enthusiasm in the Society to push forward its influences for good. Strong thought, sound convictions and piety have marked the discussions at our meetings, and the Maile has had rich contributions characterized by these elements.

The enlargement of our appropriations has grown out of the sense of our increased responsibilities as stewards of the Lord, and as those who should help to strengthen the things that remain.

A delightful episode occurred in our April meeting whose date marked the fiftieth anniversary of the landing of the Reinforcement of 1837.

Thanks to our adopted cousin, Pres. W. C. Merritt, there was then kept a rare Jubilee, long to be held in grateful remembrance. And to his kindly, generous efforts, also, shall we owe the Jubilee pamphlet that preserves for us and for those who follow, the papers, historic and biographic, of the reminiscents on that occasion. Let the cousins take time to read these papers, and they will feel their hearts stirred anew with loving reverence for the missionary fathers and mothers whose lives were willing sacrifices for the Hawaiian people.

We have rejoiced in the return of Rev. Thomas S. Gulick and his lovely wife for pastoral work on Maui. Your secretary was at Makawao when they arrived and noted the cordial, generous welcome extended to them.

Rev. H. and Mrs. Dora Isenberg are at Lihue, Kauai, engaged in evangelistic work.

During the year many of our number have been among those running to and fro, and by them, we trust, knowledge is to be increased.

Early in the year, Mrs. W. D. Alexander with her two little girls spent some months in Oakland. Mr. S. T. Alexander has added to many widely extended travels, a visit to several South American ports and to Mexico.

Mrs. Atherton, detained by ill health at the coast, will soon be joined there by her family, while Mrs. J. Cooke and children come hither to occupy the charming Atherton home for a season.

Rev. H. Bingham, with wife and son, will spend the summer in California, hoping that strength will be so restored after his protracted prostration, that he may resume his cherished work of translating the Bible into the Gilbert Islands language. Mrs. S. E. Bishop goes from us soon for change and rest beyond the sea. Last fall, Mr. H. A. P. Carter, breaking away from engrossing cares at Washington, came hitherward on a brief visit to say aloha, and note our national progress. Seven Castles, in addition to those already gone abroad, have left regretted vacant places among our pleasant homes. Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Cooke, with their children and the dear mother, Mrs. Rice, sought for increase of vigor in the bracing air of Colorado, but hastened back long before the limit of their time for absence, glad to reach this milder clime. Miss Chamberlain has gone on a visit to many friends and to participate in the great Jubilee of Mount Holyoke Seminary. Mr. S. M. Damon sometime since went to Europe. His family plan to meet him at San Francisco and accompany him home. The last steamer took Katie Dickson from us for a year's sojourn in California. The Dillinghams left in April for a little run to the east. Mr. Dillingham goes as far as London. All the W. W. Halls turn their feet from the margin of the sea at beautiful Waikiki to tarry awhile in the region of the northern lakes. Mrs. Hyde goes to Williamstown to be present at Henry's graduation from college. We trust she will be greatly benefited by the needed change.

Mr. and Mrs. P. C. Jones made a short trip to Boston, wearing their blue ribbon badges and meeting many brave hearts with whom they held congenial converse. Their return was in time to celebrate their silver wedding, on which occasion, a host of friends gathered to offer congratulations, and were royally entertained. Miss Nellie Judd after several years of absence is with us again to report in propria persona, much that she has seen and heard. Judge and Mrs. McCully, with their little Alice, have but lately left.

Our earnest wishes go out for him that medical help may reach and heal his malady. Miss Anna Paris is drawn again to her native land in hope of benefit to health, and for one more visit with her venerable father at her childhood's home. The Smiths of Oakland, we gladly welcome back, and trust their sojourn here is to be for many years. Another health seeker across the waters is Mrs. Sarah Thurston. Her return will brighten Makawao.

We hoped the Waterhouses of Cedar Rapids would forget the distant home and tarry with us, but they have all flitted away again. Dr. Whitney and wife spent the winter in Southern California on account of the doctor's health. So many fears were felt of losing them from Honolulu, that their return with strength renewed was hailed with joy.

The latest mail from the coast brings us the grateful news, that the beloved cousin, Rev. E. G. Beckwith, will soon come to fill the pulpit of Fort-Street Church during the summer months. A blessing indeed, since both of our churches are to be bereft of their pastors, and no one could minister to the bereaved flocks with greater acceptance than our long tried friend, Dr. Beckwith.

In the remaining records of this report, we fear there may be omissions. It is some apology for them, that in only three cases has direct information, unsolicited, been given. If there are "no cards" for others will you not in the coming year make an exception for your secretary and notify her of your matrimonial alliances. Parents will please send letters of introduction for the little strangers that join their households.

DEATHS.

As one read the record last year of those who had gone hence, it seemed as if death, for some, had only been translation, so sudden was the unloosing of the silver cord. This year, through the slow breaking of the wheel at the cistern has the other life been begun. In ways his own God calls his children home.

Early in the year there was laid to rest in the little mission cemetery the mortal part of Rev. Porter Green, husband of Cousin Hattie (Parker) Green. Many times have we seen him with slow, weary step, seeking his accustomed place in the sanctuary. In what rapture of joyous freedom must the liberated spirit have entered the upper courts to worship in the presence of his God.

Our dear cousin, Mrs. Clara Banning, came to Honolulu last fall with her invalid husband, hoping the return to this favored clime might restore strength to the sinking frame. Alas! it was only to find disease too deeply seated for relief; and hastening back to her only remaining son and her kindred in San Francisco, it was granted her to be with them when the hour of desolating bereavement came.

“ No seas again shall sever,
 No desert intervene;
 No deep sad flowing river
 Shall roll its tide between.
 Love and unsevered union
 Of soul with those we love,
 Nearness and glad communion

Fifty-four years Father Lyons lived and labored at Waimea. Few have known under what weight of bodily infirmity he toiled. Loving, gentle, patient, nay courageous, he bore his burden, even to the last, sweetly singing as he journeyed on. October 6th, the saintly soul, “by angel bands attended,” went home to receive the victor's crown, and to join in heavenly hallelujahs.

November 19th, from the home of William and Adele Andrews, at Jersey City, there was transplanted to the garden of the Lord, the little blossom that for only one short year had gladdened earth.

Died December 13, 1886, Mrs. Sophie (Corwin) Tousley. We remember the loveliness of her girlhood, giving promise of rare sweetness in maturity, In the loss of such a daughter the afflicted father draws precious consolation from the word that dealeth gently with him. Grace triumphs when he bears such testimony as this (see Advance for January, 1887): "As truly and as sweetly as ever a fond mother folded her loved and loving child in her arms, so sweetly does God place beneath us his everlasting arms, and we are at rest."

Nineteen weary weeks of passing into the valley of the shadow of death were appointed to Samuel Latimer Coan; weeks in which the sisters who watched tenderly by him believed he found his father's God a present help. On the eighteenth of January, 1887, the gentle heart ceased to beat and entered into peace.

Only a little more than two years ago, Edwin Oscar White brought his happy bride from San Francisco to share his home in Nuuanu Valley. She loved her island home and her friends she found here. But in the Father's house above a fairer mansion was being made ready for her. The way thither led through long months of keen suffering which she bore with sweet patience until the end came, February 6th, 1887.

"As they walked the cold
And deathly waters, lo! they seemed to tread
The streets of gold above. For Christ, and those Who walk with Him in white; where heart and flesh
Must well nigh faint and fail; thus going down
To God's great sea, behold God's wonders there."

Perfected in the furnace of pain, through a winter of physical agony, a constant witness to sustaining grace, our eldest sister, Mrs. S. M. (Bingham) Moseley, passed from earth to heaven on the morning of April 6, 1887.

From London there comes a memorial card thus inscribed:

"In loving memory of Lillie, the dear wife of John T. Arundel, died at Worthing, Sussex, 18th April, 1887, only 63 hours after her husband's return from the South Pacific.

"It was dark before you came home, it is all light now.
I will fear no evil, for Thou art with me."

The weariness of waiting ended for our dear Mrs. Snow on the eighteenth of May. The reward and the welcome of God's elect are hers now.

"I think if, as our dead we lay,
Beneath the shadowed turf away,
Our hearts which give such bitter cry,
Could but the heavenly birth descry,
Throughout the tolling, funeral bell,
A note would ring, 'tis well! 'tis well!"

"If through the clouds that thick enshroud
Our days with sleet, and tempest loud,
A rift might pierce, and from above,
We catch God's sunset glow of love,
Through all the anguish praise would swell,
And utter, 'it is well! 'tis well!'"

Respectfully submitted,
LYDIA B. COAN.

CORRESPONDENCE.

MWOT, KUSAIE, Jan. 14, 1887.

Dear Cousins: I have been at a loss to know how I was going to write all the letters I want to without detaining the Star another week, but it has occurred to me that you are all members of the "Cousin" family, and that I can write you all together.

The reports of the Chinese and other Christian work proved interesting, the little tracts helpful.

The tamarinds made us a refreshing drink; the ice was so refreshing! The roses we fostered and watched and watered, but live they would not, much to our regret. We appreciate the kindness of the giver all the same. We managed to keep two or three onions alive and set them out when we got here, but the hens scratched them up. We sought but found them not. The tomatoes flourish to please the children who watch the vines with jealous eyes. The papaia trees are soaring heavenward; the guavas came to grief after they came ashore. The mangoes, alligator pears and flowering plants are all doing well. Please accept our sincere thanks for all these favors and any others that I have not thought to mention. We do appreciate all the love and thought you bestow upon us. The Christmas cards were very beautiful and we return thanks for those too.

What shall I tell you of mission work? For a number of weeks it was mostly furnishing a large family with something to eat and drink; and trying to get and keep clean; doing just the task that God gave each hour as it came, whether of head or hands. And will it ever be anything else but doing each task as it comes, cheerfully and for the Master's sake.

Since Dr. Pease went to the Marshall Islands, I have been endeavoring to throw some light on the last half of the book of Romans, and to help prepare the natives to sing the "new song" when they reach the golden city. I shall have a harder time now that the young man has come back who has sung for years on one note, and who will probably keep on doing so all the rest of his mortal life.

Your cousin Ned and his brother Frank are hearty and happy. I give them two hours instruction each day, and hope they won't turn out to be ignoramuses, if they do live in "the uttermost parts of the sea."

If they grow up to do valiant work for the Master, my ambition will be satisfied. With the love of all your cousins here

I remain very sincerely yours,

HATTIE A. PEASE.

KUSAIE, MICRONESIA, Jan. 15, 1887.

My Dear Cousins: Again, I have to thank you one and all, in behalf of our school for your kind and timely assistance. We have, this year, a larger school than ever, and a more promising set of young men. So we take up our work again with renewed strength and courage, more than ever thankful that the Lord gave us this privilege of working for Him.

I am just back from the usual tour or cruise among the islands of our group. You may remember that I brought down a large number—fifteen hundred New Testaments, published last year by the Bible Society. These were too few to meet the demand. I needed five hundred more. An edition of two thousand new hymn books, has also disappeared. We consider it very encouraging when we find such an eagerness to buy God's word. May his blessing go with every copy!

Our islands, as you know, are under a German Protectorate. The liberal meaning of these two words is this: The German Government protects its subjects in whatever way they endeavor to enrich themselves at the expense of the poverty stricken natives of these islands. This has been the definition of the "Protectorate" hitherto. Now a new man has come, an "Imperial Commissioner," who promises to do something for the benefit of the islands.

We shall wait and see what comes of it. As yet our work has not been seriously interfered with. The good work, in every island where we have been able to keep a teacher, has gone steadily forward. And now we get messages from other islands, from Mejuro, Arno, Malwonlap, Wojai, Lai, Kwojalain, begging for teachers. We sent one to Arno, and another is greatly needed there. That was all we could do for them this year. If we only could put teachers in all three islands now, it would not take long to evangelize the group. We hope to occupy five or six posts on new islands next year if we are prospered. The prospects in our group have never before seemed so bright as now.

With God's blessing and a good earnest effort on the part of all interested in this cause, we may expect great results in the next few years. You aid us with money, won't you also help us with your constant prayers? Praying and giving are twin sisters, and their younger brother is work. Don't you see how much depends on you?

We retain a vivid and delightful remembrance of our visit in Honolulu last summer. Since we came away no word has come to us from our Hawaiian friends. I think we shall have no mail this year. But when the Star comes again, we shall hope to hear of the prosperity of the Society and the welfare of all the members thereof. The Star is now in a hurry to be gone, and all our writing has to be much slighted. So please excuse these hasty lines.

With all good wishes, yours fraternally,

E. M. PEASE.

ADDRESS OF THE RETIRING PRESIDENT REV. W. C. MERRITT.

There are times that come in the lives of individuals, of communities and of nations, that foreshadow and then culminate in crises which mark new eras in those lives.

All thoughtful men among us recognize that this present time in Hawaii nei is portentous in the extreme. A spirit of unrest pervades the community about us and the nation at large, and anxious forebodings fill all minds. In view of these facts I have chosen for the theme of my address this evening—"The Impending Crisis." It requires no argument to show that a crisis, and that a great one, impends over this Kingdom. How it shall culminate, where strike, what accomplish, is not for me to prophecy, nor, for my purpose, is an answer to such questions essential. I am interested to find the causes of this unrest; to ascertain what is their nature, and, if possible, to find a permanent rather than a temporary remedy. I realize fully that I set for myself no easy task. Nor do I expect to reach conclusions that will be universally accepted, perhaps not even generally, and yet it may not be presumption for me to set them before you. They may even seem to you to be Utopian, for similar views have been so termed, and still to me they seem practical and important, and I therefore believe in them and stand to-night to advocate their value to us here and now.

The genius of Michael Angelo gave to the sixteenth century his wonderful conception of the "Creation of Adam." As he represented it upon the ceiling of the Sistine Chapel, Adam lies stretched on the verge of the earth, in the act of raising himself; he has a human body and an animal life; the Creator reaches forth and touches him with the point of his finger and he becomes a living soul, endowed with intellectual and spiritual power. Upon this "verge of earth" before the eyes of the nineteenth century God has wrought out this majestic conception, and has, from a race of men possessing scarcely more than animal life, and yet in the very act of trying to raise itself to higher and better things, touched it with the divine spark of Christ's love and power, and lo! a Christian nation stood upright. But how was this done? How was this miracle of the century wrought? By imparting to these children of nature, man by man, woman by woman, child by child, the saving power of the Gospel. It was as individuals they were reached; as individuals they were saved and transformed into men endowed with renewed intellectual and new spiritual power. And as individuals make up the nation, so the character of the nation is determined by the character of the individuals composing it. The law is "the mass is as the atoms." The national life is never purer, never more elevated than the lives of those who are its citizens and who exercise the duties and rights of citizenship. Elevate and sanctify the people, as individuals, by a wide and general diffusion of the real power of Christianity, and there will be no trouble about the State, especially under a free representative government." People possessing right characters and governed by right principles will take care of the State by choosing good men to frame its laws and true men to enforce them. The intelligence and personal character of the individual will be, must be the guarantee of a just and righteous government.

Now the reverse of this truth is a fact as serious and sad as the obverse is pleasing and satisfactory. And it is with the condition of things representing the reverse that we have to deal to-day. As the fall of Adam followed his creation, so the fall of this nation has followed upon its creation.

And the same causes that made the nation good are the efficient causes that have brought about the present evil and corrupt condition, viz: the personal character of those holding and exercising the duties of citizenship.

We may wisely divorce the State from the Church, and may rightly restrain the State from teaching religion; but you cannot divorce the State from morality except at your peril, nor can you maintain an incorruptible morality apart from pure and undefiled religion. But the State must derive its morality from the character of the individual, and the individual must found his character upon Christ Jesus. And yet "no man can be made a Christian on the ground of State utility. A truly Christian man will be a good citizen; but the motives and the principles that make him Christian rise infinitely above the level of citizenship." Hence the highest principles of the State as a State are too low to become the reasons for the teaching of religion. Religion is too pure and high and holy a thing to allow of its propagation for such purposes alone. "The man who is religious for the sake of making money is not religious at all; and so the State that uses the Christian religion and attempts to propagate it for its 'political value' alone, adopts a theory that cannot survive its own exposure." No, Christianity is a God-given religion, given not only for the life that now is, but for the eternal life. And because it is divine, it is authoritative over the individual conscience; and so there is not on the face of the earth any civil government that has the right to administer this authority in its name or for its own ends.

Do not these principles and truths help us to see the causes of our impending crisis? Is it not true that the great majority of those who hold and exercise the duties of citizenship are not what they should be in their personal characters? Is it not true that the religion of those who administer the government is a pretense and a sham, and hence reacts upon those who support it with tremendous power? And, finally, is it not true that there is only one way in which a permanent remedy can be applied, and that is in the diffusion and widespread of the principles and truths of the Gospel of our Lord, which, since it is not the work of the State, is emphatically our duty and privilege to scatter by every means in our power over these lovely islands we call our home? The ultimate cause of our present unrest may be found, then, as it seems to me in the degeneration of the personal character of the majority of those who hold and exercise the duties of citizenship in this kingdom; and out of this arises the distrust of the government this majority have given to us, and the feeling of hopelessness as regards what can be secured from this majority in the future. The law in this case is, "as are the people so is the government."

If the morality of the majority of the citizens is lacking in quality to such a degree that evil and designing men can use this majority to enable them to accomplish their schemes of unrighteousness and sin, then the future must be ominous, and the present full of anxiety and unrest. You see at once that my thought has nothing to do with the immediate or temporary solution of the difficulties of the hour, but rather to lead us to see and recognize the causes which have produced our troubles, and the principles governing and controlling the social and political relations of men, not only here, but everywhere, and, at this point, allow me to call attention to the importance of what has been called "The Majority Conscience." The common, almost universally used major premise, in all arguments regarding the government of individuals brought together and associated for certain ends or objects, is, "the majority ought to rule." In all representative governments the conscience of the individuals composing this majority has been designated as the "majority conscience."

But is this premise a safe one as it stands, and as generally applied? Let us make a trial of it to see. Take one of the large corporations doing business upon these islands, the Hawaiian Agricultural Society for example. Its stock is held by many individuals, some wealthy, some not. At a meeting of the stockholders we will suppose that it is proposed to appropriate all the surplus earnings of the company for the establishment and prosecution of Christian missionary work on the Samoan Islands. The work is philanthropic, the need great; the opportunities inviting. The holders of a majority of the stock are in no present need of this surplus, and therefore they vote it. Some protest, but are blandly told it is the will of the majority, and the majority ought to rule. Is this true? The answer of law and common sense to this proposition would be that this work does not come within the scope of the organization; hence the majority cannot use their powers for such purposes. The charter of the company would limit and define the powers of the majority. There is an obvious fallacy in this major premise as laid down. It consists in the assumption that the rule of the majority is absolute, without qualification. As such, it is a despotism as tyrannical as ever existed. Now this principle applies to constitutional, civil government. The majority are entitled to rule only within the limits provided for in the Constitution, and for which the government exists. We need to change only the minor premise in our syllogism while retaining the unqualified major, and we not only change entirely the conclusion, but also reveal the true character of this latter premise. Now, my application of this must be obvious, I think, to all. The principles of representative constitutional government are accepted in our day as the only ones under which civilized nations can prosper. The principle of self-government has come to stay; but it must be remembered that it has for its cardinal and essential element the government of self. And there is only one absolutely safe and unvarying method for the government of self, and that is according to the principles of the Gospel of Christ.

A true Christianity, i. e., the possession of a Christ-likeness—is a transformation of the inner man, a recreating of the heart and its activities; and hearts, governed and controlled by the same Spirit, viz., the Spirit of Christ, are equal to the serious and difficult task of self-government, and in my judgment only such. The realization of this would be indeed Utopian, and a heaven on earth, and will not come in its fullness until the millennium shall be ushered in. But in the degree, in the exact proportion of our approach to it, shall we enjoy its beneficent influence and help.

And our duty is to set up the standard; to definitely and positively grasp the truth that a stable, permanently good government can be secured only upon the basis of an intelligent and genuinely Christian citizenship; that Christianity is a purely individual attainment; and therefore one of the great and imperative duties of the hour is to put forth direct persistent, vigorous efforts for the individual men about us. A partial settlement of the impending crisis which we all recognize as upon us must be sought in some tem porary arrangement, but its final settlement will be found, I believe, only in the uplifting, ennobling, vivifying power of the Gospel of Jesus Christ. And I, for one, am so Utopian as to believe that the world is hastening on to the time when this will be the condition of the nations of the earth, when righteousness and truth and purity shall indeed reign in the hearts of men and so govern the world.

As one of the rightly constituted organizations to help in this work; as one upon which is placed an important responsibility in meeting and averting the impending moral crisis rapidly drawing near, I believe this Society should continue to earnestly and prayerfully seek to do well and as unto the Lord, whatever lies within the scope and intent of its constitution for a thorough and true Home Evangelization. It has sometimes occurred to me that this Society is peculiarly happy in its constitution for successful work in this line. Originating as it did among those who were born here, and whose parents had come to give and many of them had already given their best years to the first evangelization of these Islands, who can so fittingly take up and endeavor to complete the work under the new condition of things as the members of this Society.

Children of parents, who may be said to be a God-chosen company, taken from one of the most enlightened and Christian nations of earth, sought out and sent hither by the Spirit of Christ, to you and to those you have been pleased to admit to your circle, to you and to us is given a great opportunity to do a great work. Shall we show ourselves equal to this responsibility? I would urge you in this crisis to plan to do great things for the Master Who has so highly honored us. It is a time of special effort and marked success in the way of Home Evangelistic work. New methods of work are enlisting the thought and taxing the energies of the Churches in the home-land and other lands.

The great commission of our Lord "to preach the Gospel to every creature" comes to every disciple. It is not spoken to those alone whom the Church sets apart and ordains to the Christian ministry. It is to every disciple to each one of us. And what our Lord lays upon each one of us is not the conversion of souls, but the preaching of the Gospel. We are responsible only for the bringing of the message of salvation into contact with souls. We have nothing to do with results; these belong to God. But to us is given the work of telling and living the truth as it is in Jesus. God is working wonders in other lands to-day just as He did in this land fifty years ago.

We may see it in the half-million Christians of India; in the work in China; in the New Japan with its marvelous progress; in the wonderful success of the McAll missions in the cities of atheistic France; and the new awakening to city evangelization in America; and especially in the spirit of willingness on the part of hundreds of the young men in the colleges and seminaries of the United States and Great Britain to consecrate themselves to mission work in heathen lands. These facts should stir in us renewed earnestness and prayerfulness; should increase our faith that God is ready to do great things for this nation with its mixed population. It was time for us to petition Christian America for additional help. It is time for us to bestir ourselves in the matter of our duty, our whole duty. And now permit me to make two or three suggestions and one recommendation. First, I would suggest that we owe a more earnest spiritual support to our cousin Frank Damon and his wife in the great work they are doing among the Chinese. Seventeen thousand of this nationality are here, and all the care and most of the work to be done by them. We do give them the support of our prayers and fellowship, but I am sure we can make our aid more truly felt. We owe it them, to the work and to God to do this. Second, I would suggest that we are here in the metropolis of the kingdom; and, although our city is not large, compared with the great cities of the great nations, still it is large compared with our whole population.

One-fourth of all Hawaii is resident here. This is emphatically the center of the nation's life, and out from this city go the influences and the spirit which will dominate the other Islands. We need to increase our watchfulness and labors if possible; to be instant in season and out of season for the work of Christ here.

My third suggestion is, that as it is individuals we seek and hope to transform, it must be done by personal work. To do this, is a vital matter. How can it be done? One way has occurred to me that perhaps it might be well to try. I made a list of the cousins here, business and professional men, who speak the Hawaiian language, and who are known as earnest Christian men here and everywhere on the group, and they are more in number than the apostles.

Could there not be some systematic plan adopted, by which these brethren could be induced to give a week or two of service to evangelistic labors among the native Churches on the different Islands, going in companies of twos or threes, and spending a few days with a given Church, holding daily services of an evangelistic character? I believe it could be so planned as to do great good and bring down showers of blessing. And finally, I would recommend that a standing committee of three be appointed to take in charge this work, and to be known as "The Home Evangelization Committee." I believe there is room for their work, and especially if the A. B. C. F. M. shall send us the desired laborers for this needy field.

I close with congratulations upon the success of the year financially, and I believe spiritually; and I pray Almighty God that He may so guide and direct the destinies of this people that souls shall be saved, and that the crisis that seems to impend, may, if it comes, bring larger blessings in its train than could have reached this Hawaiian people by any other means.

CONSTITUTION AND BY-LAWS OF THE HAWAIIAN MISSION CHILDREN'S SOCIETY.

SEC. 1. The President shall preside over the meetings of the Society; deliver an address before the Society at its Annual Meeting, upon vacating his office; appoint all committees not otherwise provided for; sign all certificates of membership; arrange the programme of exercises for each regular meeting, consulting with the Chairman of the various Committees, and he may convene the Society to Special Meetings at his discretion. He shall also be ex-officio President of the Board of Managers.

SEC. 2. The Vice-President shall audit the Annual Report of the Treasurer, and perform all the duties of the President in case of his absence.

SEC. 3. It shall be the duty of the Recording Secretary to keep a record of the proceedings of the Society at its several meetings, and make out an abstract report of the proceedings of the Society, during his term of office, at its Annual Meeting. He shall also be ex-officio Secretary of the Board of Managers, and shall furnish the Treasurer with a certified copy of every order on the Treasurer authorized by the Board.

SEC. 4. The Corresponding Secretaries shall carry on the correspondence of the Society at home and abroad; take charge of the books and papers of the Society, excepting the files of the Maile Wreath, and report at its Annual Meeting.

SEC. 5. The Treasurer shall receive and safely keep all moneys belonging to the Society; pay over such moneys as may be directed from time to time by the Board of Managers, for the purpose of defraying such expenses as shall have been incurred by their order, such order having the signature of the Recording Secretary; shall countersign all certificates of membership; and shall, at the Annual Meeting of the Society, present an accurate statement of the receipts and disbursements of the Society during the year.

ARTICLE II—OF THE BOARD OF MANAGERS.

SEC. 1. It shall be the duty of the Board of Managers to superintend all business transactions of the Society not otherwise provided for in the Constitution, and to keep full and correct minutes of all its own proceedings.

SEC. 2. Any member of the Society desiring to bring any business before the Board of Managers, shall make known such business in a written application to some member of the Board, who shall lay it before the Board for their action thereon.

SEC. 3. The Board shall decide upon all applications for membership under Articles 7 and 10 of the Constitution, and also upon the disposition of the funds of the Society.

SEC. 4. The minutes of the Board shall be read before the Society at each regular meeting, for acceptance and adoption.

SEC. 5. Any vacancies occurring in the Board of Managers, by death or otherwise, shall be re-filled by regular election of the Society at the earliest succeeding meeting.

SEC. 6. The regular meetings of the Board shall be held at such time as the Board may determine, within seven days immediately preceding the regular meeting of the Society. The Secretary of the Board shall note the members present at each.

SEC. 7. Special meetings of the Board may be called by the President at his discretion, or by three members thereof.

SEC. 8. A majority of the members resident in Honolulu shall constitute a working quorum of the Board.

ARTICLE III.

The members of the Society are expected to attend the regular meetings of the Society, as far as may be possible; to perform all such duties as may, from time to time, be assigned to them; to collect all information that may be useful or interesting to the Society, and at each regular meeting contribute to the funds of the Society, according to their generosity and means.

ARTICLE IV.

The regular monthly meetings of the Society shall be opened by prayer and singing; the minutes of the last meeting shall be read by the Recording Secretary; the minutes of the Board of Managers shall then be read and acted upon; a collection shall be taken up by the Treasurer; the entertainment provided for in Article 5 shall then be in order; next shall follow miscellaneous business; after which the meeting shall be closed by singing.

The monthly meetings of the Society shall be open to such guests as any of the members may invite as being in sympathy with the Society and its objects.

ARTICLE V.

There shall be a Committee of three on music, who shall be chosen quarterly, to aid in providing for the profitable entertainment of each monthly meeting.

There shall be a Committee of four, consisting of two ladies and two gentlemen, to be elected every four months, to conduct a monthly paper, the purpose of which shall be to develop more fully the intellectual resources of the Society, and add to the missionary interest of each monthly meeting.

There shall be a Committee of two, to be appointed annually, whose duty it shall be to take the Maile Wreaths, after they are read, and attend to their circulation over the Islands, and subsequently to binding them in proper form, and be responsible for their safe keeping.

ARTICLE VI—RULES OF ORDER.
